Narrative Summary of Curriculum Vitae

Thaddeus Mason Pope is an American law professor and bioethicist working to use the law both to improve medical decision making and to protect patient rights at the end of life. He is Director of the Health Law Institute and Professor of Law at Mitchell Hamline School of Law in Saint Paul, Minnesota.

Pope is also: (1) Adjunct Professor with the Australian Centre for Health Law Research at Queensland University of Technology; (2) Adjunct Associate Professor with the Alden March Bioethics Institute at Albany Medical College; and (3) Visiting Professor of Medical Jurisprudence at St. Georges University.

Professor Pope has nearly 200 publications in: leading medical journals, law reviews, bar journals, nursing journals, bioethics journals, and book chapters. He coauthors the definitive treatise The Right to Die: The Law of End-of-Life Decisionmaking. He also runs the popular Medical Futility Blog (with over three million page-views).

Professor Pope works to calibrate the balance between individual liberty and public health in the end-of-life medical treatment context. Specific research topics have included: (1) medical futility, (2) unwanted medical treatment, (3) ethics committees, (4) brain death, (5) advance directives, (6) surrogate decision making, (7) unrepresented patients, (8) medical aid in dying, and (9) VSED. Most recently, Pope has been innovating new legal tools to better assure (10) fair internal dispute resolution mechanisms, and (11) adequate informed consent with patient decision aids.

Pope's engagement with these issues goes beyond academic scholarship. He bridges thought and action with: amicus briefs, legislative testimony, and professional organization policy statements.

Prior to joining academia, Professor Pope practiced at Arnold & Porter LLP and clerked on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit. Pope earned a JD and PhD (in philosophy and bioethics) from Georgetown University.

- Outcomes

HLI is ranked the 11th top program in the country by US News & World Report. The national rank rose consistently during my tenure, despite the introduction and expansion of many competing programs.
- Academic Programming & Curriculum Administration

HLI offered four certificates, dozens of courses, a clinic, and externship placements. My responsibilities include: (i) course scheduling; (ii) course sequencing; (iii) developing new courses; (iv) developing academic policies; (v) managing a $300,000 budget; (vi) supervising staff and student assistants, (vii) recruiting adjunct professors, (viii) maintaining adjunct professor relations, and (ix) publishing and maintaining, across multiple platforms, accurate information about our academic offerings and policies. I also helped develop a new M.S.L. degree focused on healthcare compliance.
- Event Planning

HLI offered over a dozen academic and practitioner CLE / CE events each year. Event planning consists of: (i) developing a curriculum, (ii) recruiting speakers, (iii) promoting the event, (iv) introducing and moderating presenters, and (v) administering the event onsite. I also organize three or four health law career panels each year.
- Student Services

HLI served a variety of student constituencies, including: (i) the student body as a whole, (ii) students interested in health law, (iii) students in the Student Health Law Association, and (iv) students interested in a health law certificate. I advised these students, helped with their event planning, and provide other student services. I conduct substantial one-on-one advising as well as numerous orientation and information sessions.

- Program Marketing
I promoted the school and HLI to a variety of external constituencies, such as local practitioners, alumni, advisory boards, and prospective students. I had a central role in drafting, editing, and updating our marketing materials. I significantly expanded both the depth of content and the navigability of the HLI website. I prepared and distributed a weekly newsletter, the HLI Brief. And I prepared a detailed annual report, HLI Highlights.
